Clinic aids veterans seeking safe place

Suicide Prevention Awareness Month draws attention

TIM STANLEY
Tulsa World

Veterans who are able to defeat suicidal thoughts usually have at least one thing in common, said a local veteran who works in the mental health field. "Those who are successful have been able to find or create a safe environment — one where they feel like: 'All right, you get my culture, you get my language; you're not offended by the way I talk or the things I talk about. You get it; you've been there,'" said Aaron Ashworth, a 23-year Army veteran who fought in Iraq and Afghanistan.

Patriot Family Counseling Services is not the only area agency providing emotional assistance for veterans. In Broken Arrow, Ashworth is always thinking about how to better reach military veterans. And he knows an opportunity like Suicide Prevention Awareness Month every September has its value. This year he is again among those taking advantage of it to bring more attention to veterans' mental health.

KRYSTI, a 7-year-old blue heeler mix, lies next to his owner, Marine Corps veteran Jeremy Founds, during a yoga class at Tulsa VFW Post 577. Sessions, every Wednesday at 5:30 p.m., provide veterans with resources to slow down, recognize and navigate through their PTSD triggers by using the tools of yoga.

As a licensed mental health professional and founder of Patriot Family Counseling Services in Broken Arrow, Ashworth is always thinking about how to better reach military veterans. And he knows an opportunity like Suicide Prevention Awareness Month every September has its value. This year he is again among those taking advantage of it to bring more attention to veterans' mental health.

Ashworth, an Oklahoma National Guard chaplain, said veterans usually know when they need help but not necessarily who or where to seek it. "One thing I'd always hear people saying in veterans' spaces is that they wanted to get help — they needed to get help — but they didn't feel like they had anyone they could rely on or talk to," he said.

"As a combat veteran especially," he added, "we can't talk to our friends and our families because we don't want our trauma to traumatize them. And they haven't been there. They haven't been in our shoes. They don't know or understand the things that we've seen."

Kendra Guthrie, executive director of the Humble Warrior Collective, holds a tree pose last week at VFW Post 577 near her father, Buddy Monroe, who served in the Marine Corps. The Humble Warrior Collective makes yoga accessible at veterans centers, domestic violence shelters, public schools and justice-involved programs.

After hearing for so long from veterans that they didn't have a place to go, Ashworth decided: "Why not just create that place?" He started Patriot as his private practice in 2019 and later expanded. Today, it serves the Tulsa area a full crisis, trauma and suicide-prevention clinic geared toward veterans, medical professionals and first responders. Patriot is a VA community provider, which allows veterans to use those benefits to ensure no out-of-pocket costs.

Lucas said Patriot counselors pride themselves on being able to offer more to veterans than many other mental health clinics do. "We put them in environments they understand... Can you imagine trying to teach a combat infantryman mindfulness with a YouTube video on a therapist's couch? That's not going to be successful," she said.

Shannon Lucas, one of Patriot's eight licensed clinicians, has been working with service members and their families for about 15 years. She had some experience with Ashworth in the field before getting her master's degree in social work, so when he built the foundation for Patriot, "our dreams aligned," Lucas said.

She likened the recruiting process for the program to "hunting unicorns" because Patriot prioritizes hiring counselors with a military or first-responder background. "It's a very niche population as far as clinicians go," Lucas said. "All of (Patriot's counselors) have either served in the military or first-responder field or have worked for those organizations or are a military or first-responder spouse. So when we say we understand, we really do. Our lived experiences are their lived experiences."

While the COVID-19 pandemic was harmful to mental health, there was a silver lining, Ashworth said. "Even though it created isolation, depression and anxiety for a lot of people, in the veteran and first-responder community, it gave them time and an open door to seek out help. We saw an increase in participation."

Lucas said Patriot counselors pride themselves on being able to offer more to veterans than many other mental health clinics do. "We put them in environments they understand... Can you imagine trying to teach a combat infantryman mindfulness with a YouTube video on a therapist's couch? That's not going to be successful," she said.

She described the setting Patriot might use to teach mindfulness: In a training room with M4 rifles, letting the subject focus on aiming at targets. "As he centers his breathing, I'm letting him know he already has this skill," Lucas said.

Another way Patriot is different, Lucas said: Everyone there is part of a similar culture in which firefighters are not only considered normal but it's understood that they provide a sense of safety. She said many combat veterans are

"terrified" to seek mental health help for fear they'll be flagged as a danger to themselves or others. "In a PTSD state, constant fight or flight mode, that weapon provides them a sense of security," Lucas said. "So taking that away makes it worse."

Ashworth said his message to fellow veterans is always the same. "I've always had the mentality of 'we fought together; let's not end it there,'" he said. "Whether you're in the military or in any kind of public service, you've been there; you've seen it; you've done it. Don't let your fight stop there. You're a hero for a reason. So make sure that you're doing the things that are going to keep you healthy and strong in order for you to be that hero for your family and friends."

CERTIFICATE OF EXCISE BOARD

State of Oklahoma, County of Tulsa

We, do further certify that we have examined the statement of estimated needs for the current fiscal year ending June 30, 2023, as certified by the Board of Education of Skiatook Public Schools, District Number 1-7 of said County and State, and its financial statement for the preceding year, and in so doing we have diligently performed the duties imposed upon this Excise Board by 68 O. S. 2001 Section 3007, by (1) ascertaining that the financial statements, as to the statistics therein contained, reflect the true fiscal condition at the close of the fiscal year, or caused the same to be corrected so to show; (2) struck from the estimate of needs so submitted any items not authorized by law and reduced to the sum authorized by law any items restricted by statute as to the amount lawfully expendable therefor; (3) supplemented such estimate, after appropriate action, by an estimate of needs prepared by this Excise Board to make provision for mandatory functions based upon statistics authoritatively submitted; (4) computed the total means available to each fund in the manner provided, applying the Governing Board's estimate of revenue to be derived from surplus tax of the immediately preceding year and from sources other than ad valorem tax, or reduced such estimate to not less than the lawfully authorized ratio of the several sums realized from such sources during the preceding fiscal year or to such lesser sum as may reasonably be anticipated under altered law or circumstance and using for such determination the basic collections of the preceding year and the ratios on which distribution or apportionment must be made during the ensuing or current year.

To the several and specific purposes of the estimated needs as certified, we have and do hereby appropriate the surplus balances of cash on hand of the prior year, estimates of income from sources other than ad valorem taxation within the limitation fixed by law, and the proceeds of ad valorem tax levy within the number of mills authorized, either by apportionment by the Legislature, allocation by the excise board or by legal election, all of which appropriations are made in so far as the available surpluses, revenues, and levies will permit, except in that we have also provided that, after deducting items consisting of cash and the revenue from all sources other than the 2023 tax and the proceeds of the 2023 tax levy are in excess of the residue of such appropriations, by a sum included for delinquent tax, computed at .0% of such residue. And provided further, if said School District has been ascertained to be a well defined State Aid District, the local budget, as approved and appropriated for, has been applied wholly to its operating accounts.

We further certify that the amount required to be raised from tax, excluding Homesteads, for General Revenue Fund purposes as approved, requires a total ad valorem tax levy of 35.000 Mills. Said levy is within the statutory limit, and if in excess, is within the constitutional limit and has been authorized by a vote of the people of said district, as shown by certificate of the School Board to-wit:

To this District, with valuations shown below, the Excise Board allocated 5.000 Mills, plus 15.000 Mills authorized by the Constitution, plus an emergency levy of 5.000 Mills; plus local support levy of 10.000 Mills; for a total levy for the General Fund of 35.000 Mills.

We further certify that the amount required to be raised for building fund purposes as approved requires a tax levy of 5.000 Mills, and said levy has been certified as authorized by a vote of the people at an election held for that purpose. We further certify that Assessed Values used in computing Mill-vote levies have been applied as certified by the County Assessor.

We further certify that we have examined the within statements of account and estimated needs or requirements of the Governing Board of Skiatook Public Schools, School District No. 1-7 of said County and State, in relation to the Sinking Fund or Funds thereof, and after finding the same correct or having caused the same to be corrected pursuant to 68 O. S. 2001 Section 3009, have approved the requirements therefor to fulfill the conditions of Section 26 and 28 of Article 10, Oklahoma Constitution, and have made and certified a tax levy therefor to the extent of the excess of said total requirements over the total of items 2, 3, 6, and 12 of Exhibit Y and any other legal deduction, including a reserve of .0% for delinquent taxes.
